March 17th, 2014

Quantum Mold & Engineering would like to announce that it has reached a significant milestone with the official registration for the ISO/TS 16949:2009 Quality Standard. This registration is considered the highest level of quality standards for the automotive industry and encompasses the entire operation.

With this announcement, we have not only validated the quality of our operation, but also demonstrated our commitment to meeting the demands and expectations of all existing and potential new customers.

Quantum Mold & Engineering continues to offer customers the assurance of an accredited quality management system.

Sincerely,

Quantum Management
